

COOKIE POLICY

Effective Date: October 14, 2026 | Last Updated: October 14, 2026

NetFintax | Las Vegas, Nevada, USA

1. Introduction

This Cookie Policy describes how NetFintax ("we," "us," or "our") may use cookies and similar technologies when visitors access our website. NetFintax provides tax preparation, accounting, bookkeeping, and related services from Las Vegas, Nevada.

This policy should be read with our Privacy Policy and applies to our public website. It does not authorize collection or disclosure of tax return information beyond what applicable law permits.

2. What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files that a website may place on your browser or device. They can help websites remember preferences, maintain sessions, prevent abuse, and measure performance. Similar technologies may include pixels, local storage, and other device identifiers.

Cookies may be set by NetFintax (first-party cookies) or by third-party services integrated into the website (third-party cookies).

3. Categories of Cookies

Strictly necessary: Cookies needed for core site functions, security, fraud prevention, or session management. Some website features may not function without them.

Functional: Optional cookies that remember preferences, such as language or display settings, if those features are offered.

Analytics: Optional cookies that help us understand aggregate website use, navigation, and technical performance, if analytics tools are enabled.

Advertising and marketing: Optional cookies or pixels that may measure campaigns or enable targeted advertising, but only if such technologies are actually implemented. We do not state that these technologies are in use unless confirmed.

4. Cookies and Services Actually Used

The specific cookies on our website depend on the services enabled at the time of your visit. This draft does not represent that Google Analytics, Meta Pixel, advertising trackers, or any other named third-party technology is currently installed.

Before publication, NetFintax should maintain a current cookie inventory listing each cookie or similar technology, its provider, purpose, duration, and category. If optional analytics or marketing tools are used, identify them in the website cookie preferences or an accompanying cookie table.

5. How We Use Cookie Information

Where implemented, cookies may be used to operate the website, remember permitted preferences, diagnose technical errors, protect against suspicious traffic, and evaluate how website content performs.

We do not use this general Cookie Policy as consent to use or disclose tax return information for advertising or other purposes that require separate authorization under Internal Revenue Code Section 7216.

6. Your Cookie Choices

You can usually block or delete cookies through your browser settings. Some browsers also let you restrict third-party cookies. Blocking strictly necessary cookies may cause parts of the website to stop functioning.

If our website deploys nonessential cookies that require consent under applicable law, we will provide appropriate choices before placing them and, where appropriate, a way to change your selection. Do not assume a cookie banner or preference center exists until it has been implemented.

7. Third-Party Technologies

Third-party embedded content, analytics services, scheduling tools, or payment services may set their own cookies when used on the site. Those providers may have separate privacy and cookie policies.

NetFintax should evaluate providers and configure optional technologies in accordance with applicable privacy requirements. A link to a third-party service does not necessarily mean that service sets cookies on our site.

8. Do Not Track and Browser Privacy Signals

Some browsers offer Do Not Track settings or other privacy signals. There is no universal standard requiring every website to respond to every signal in the same way. Our handling of applicable opt-out requests and browser signals will depend on the laws governing the specific processing activity and our implemented technology.

Where Nevada Revised Statutes Chapter 603A applies, eligible verified requests to opt out of a statutory sale of covered information are handled as described in our Privacy Policy. This right is distinct from ordinary browser cookie settings.

9. Data Protection and Sensitive Information

We recognize the sensitivity of tax and financial information. Visitors should not submit Social Security Numbers, complete tax returns, or banking credentials through general website forms. Use a NetFintax-approved secure channel for sensitive documents.

Cookie identifiers and technical information are subject to appropriate security and privacy controls. Information may be retained only as necessary for the relevant purpose and legal obligations, subject to actual system settings and provider terms.

10. Retention and Cookie Duration

Cookie lifetimes vary: session cookies typically expire when the browser session ends, while persistent cookies may remain until their set expiration or deletion. The exact duration of each cookie must be documented in the live cookie inventory.

Where analytics or similar information is collected, retention periods should reflect operational needs, applicable law, and the settings of the services actually deployed.

11. Children's Privacy

Our website is intended for a general audience seeking professional tax and accounting services and is not directed to children under 13. Information about dependents may be processed in the course of authorized tax services under separate applicable rules.

12. Changes to This Policy

We may revise this Cookie Policy as our website, service providers, or legal obligations change. We will post the revised version with an updated effective or revision date. Material changes may require additional notice or consent where applicable.
